

Phil Asmundson, a partner based in the Tri-State region, is the US Managing Partner for Deloitte & Touche's technology, media and telecommunications practice (TMT). The TMT practice focuses on the business needs of these rapidly changing markets and brings together functional specialists addressing industry challenges. With more than 23 years of experience working with communications and media clients, Mr. Asmundson is responsible for coordinating the firm's overall services to these industry segments. His experiences include such areas as accounting and auditing, control process design, mergers and acquisitions, performance enhancement and strategy development / evaluation. Mr. Asmundson has worked with virtually all segments of the telecommunications industry including LECs, CLECs, Cable Television, Optic Networks, Wireless and Satellite. He is one of our firm's designated "thought leaders" and is an active speaker and author on industry trends, challenges and opportunities.